About IC blog

The Information Center Blog [1]is designed to provide a forum for the free exchange of information and ideas amongst the Stanford community and others. We encourage all readers to participate by adding their comments.

Comments are meant to provide a constructive way for users to interact online. Please keep discussion civil, and refrain from using profanity, personal attacks, potentially libelous language, or hate speech. Stanford community members should follow the Fundamental Standard [2] when posting comments on the IC Blog.

Comments on this website represent the opinions of the authors, and DO NOT represent the views, opinions, or policies of Stanford University or the Stanford University Libraries and Academic Information Resources. All comments are moderated, and the Information Center staff reserve the right to delete problematic comments. Comments containing irrelevant links will be deleted.

This site uses Drupal [3], an open source content management system (CMS).

For IC Blog entries prior to July 2008, please see Previous IC Blog [4].
