Getting Started

[3]

1. Use Reference Sources [4] to jumpstart your research, to get ideas, search terms, context, and more.
2. Find Books, Journal Titles and Media in Stanford's Online Catalog, SearchWorks. [5]
3. Find Articles in Selected Databases. [6]

> Note: Stanford subscribes to over 1000 Databases [7] that index articles and books on various topics. Since there are so many databases we recommend a select subset of databases [6] which will give you access to articles in a wide variety of subject areas.

4. Find Resources on your Course Theme. Click the link(s) below.

Call numbers in the PN4700s look like a great area to browse in the Green Library stacks. The Subjects of these books are all related to journalism.

Some Interesting Books on Journalism, writing articles, interviews, photojournalism:

- The mind of a journalist : how reporters view themselves, their world, and their craft [32]
- The news interview : journalists and public figures on the air [33]
- The NPR Interviews [34]
- Writers and politics in Africa : a study of influences of features writing politics and vice-versa [35]
- People's witness : the journalist in modern politics [36]
- Words of fire : independent journalists who challenge dictators, druglords, and other enemies of a free press [37]
- Photojournalism : an ethical approach [38]
- Great moments in news photography, from the historical files of the National Press Photographers Association [39]
- Books by David Randall on Journalism and Journalists [40]: includes "The Universal Journalist", "The Great Reporters", and "Credibility in Elizabethan and early Stuart military news" (which has a great discussion about anonymity)
