

Provisional list of events for 2010

January 11:

Hyun Jin Kim (Sydney): "Herodotus and Sima Qian: classical Greek and early Chinese representation of foreigners"

January 12:

Roy Gibson (Manchester): "The letters of Pliny the Younger: the importance of reading (almost) to the end"

Third week of January:

Philip Hardie (Cambridge; visiting professor at Stanford)

January 27:

Alain Schnapp (Paris/Getty Center): tbd

January 28:

Alain Schnapp (Paris/Getty Center), Distinguished Lecture for SAC, "The meaning of ruins between East and West"

February 17:

Brian Rose (Cincinnati): "Monumental tombs near Troy: recent discoveries" (SAC)

February 18:

Brian Rose (Cincinnati): Distinguished Lecture for SAC, "Talking to the troops about the archaeology of Iraq and Afghanistan"

February:

Adrienne Mayor, on The Poison King

Winter Quarter:

Dyfri Williams (British Museum/Getty Center)

March 4:

Kathy Gaca (Vanderbilt): "Gods and plundered bodies: The sexual enslavement of war captives in antiquity and its ambivalent religious significance"

Second week of March:

Bert Lain, on Latin textual criticism

April 2:

First Annual T.B.L. Webster Classics Graduate Students Lecture: Jonathan Hall (University of Chicago)

April 5 or 9:

Heinrich von Staden (Institute for Advanced Study/Sather Professor at Berkeley)

April 16-18:

Conference on causation, organized by Christian Kaesser and Will Shearin

Week of April 19-23:

Samuel Lieu (Sydney/Seattle), on Nestorian site

May 27-29:

Conference on fiscal regimes in early states, organized by Andrew Monson and Walter Scheidel

TBD:

Peter Struck (Penn/CASBS)