

Carol Leynse
Conference Account Manager

Carol Leynse has been affiliated with Stanford University for 19 years, holding positions that have provided her with considerable experience and expertise. Her tenure includes a ten-year service as the Director of Stanford Conference Services with an additional four years in her current capacity.

Among Carol's many hospitality related talents, she is particularly trained and skilled in fiscal management. Having served as the Manager for Financial Services for Residential & Dining Enterprises, Carol demonstrated exceptional skill in budget management, development, and forecasting. She continues to make excellent use of these skills in her current work with conferencing and meeting planning.

In terms of her educational achievements, Carol holds a Bachelors degree in Economics from the University of Wisconsin and an MBA from Stanford University. A life-long learner, Carol continues to seek out opportunities to learn and grow in her profession.