

STANFORD SEMINAR ON SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, AND SOCIETY

Spring 2008 Schedule

4/18: Todd LaPorte, UC Berkeley

"Considering Large Technical Systems – What can be grasped? Is it enough?"

Comment: Paul Shulman, Mills College

4/25: Charles Thorpe, UC San Diego

"Engaging the Market: Technology, Participation, and Advanced Capitalism"

Comment: Patrick Windham, Stanford University

5/2: Ursula Heise, Stanford University

"The Avantgarde and the Challenge of Ecology"

Comment: Allison Carruth, Stanford University

5/9: Pablo Boczkowski, Northwestern University

"Imitation at work: The practices and technologies of mimesis in economic life"

Comment: Fred Turner, Stanford University

5/16: Klaus Benesch, Ludwig-Maximilians-University

"Imprints of the Modern Self: Writing Technology from Franklin to Gaddis"

Comment: TBA

5/30: Elizabeth Roberts, University of Michigan

"God's Laboratory: In Vitro Fertilization and Religious Rationality in Ecuador"

Comment: TBA

6/6: Chris Hill, George Mason University

"Reflections on the Post-Scientific Society"

Comment: TBA

Where: Encina Hall East, Room 207, 616 Serra St., Stanford.

When: 12:00 - 1:30 pm, Fridays. Please bring a bag lunch. Drinks and light snacks will be provided, so please RSVP to connors@stanford.edu.

Sponsored by the Program in Science, Technology, and Society.