

KEITH DEVLIN, Ph.D., F.A.A.S.
Single-Page Vita

Present positions

- Senior Researcher, Center for the Study of Language and Information, Stanford University (since 1987)
- Consulting Professor, Department of Mathematics, Stanford University (since 2001)
- Co-founder and Executive Director, H-STAR Institute, Stanford University (since 2006)
- Co-founder and Executive Committee member, Media X, Stanford University (since 2002)

Previous positions

- Visiting Professor, DUXX Graduate School of Business Leadership, Monterrey, Mexico. [1999–2001]
- Dean of the School of Science and Professor of Mathematics, Saint Mary's College of California. [1993–2001]
- Carter Professor of Mathematics and Chair of Department, Dept of Math & Comp Sci, Colby College (1989–93).
- Visiting Associate Professor of Mathematics and Philosophy, Stanford University (1987–89).
- Reader in Mathematics, Lancaster University, Lancaster, UK (1977–1987).
- Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Bonn University, Bonn, Germany (1974–1976).

Short term positions (three months to a half-year)

University of Aberdeen, Scotland	University of Manchester, England
Pennsylvania State University, USA,	University of Colorado, Boulder, USA
University of Oslo, Norway	University of Heidelberg, Germany
University of Toronto, Canada (twice, once as the Nuffield Lecturer to Canada)

Publication history and awards

- Author of over 80 research papers and 26 books (6 research monographs, 6 textbooks, 1 CD ROM plus textbook, 13 general market nonfiction books).
- The book The Millennium Problems won the Italian Pythagoras Prize in 2005.
- The books The Math Gene and The Language of Mathematics won the Italian Peano Prize in 2003.
- Logic and Information won the American Association of Publishers' award of "Most Outstanding Book in Computer Science and Data Processing of 1991".
- The books Mathematics: The Science of Patterns, a Scientific American Library book, and The Math Gene were both nominated for the Science Book Prize in the UK.
- The book Life by the Numbers was written to accompany the 1998 PBS television series of the same name and was nominated by the BABRA (Bay Area Book Reviewers Association) Best Non-Fiction Prize.
- Received the 2001 Communications Award of the Joint Policy Board for Mathematics.
- Winner of the 2007 Carl Sagan Award for Science Popularization

Professional activities

- (Elected) Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS).
- (Elected) Chair of the Mathematics Section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS).
- (Appointed) Member of the US Department of Education and Science Adult Numeracy Panel.
- (Appointed) Forum Fellow of the World Economic Forum.
- Former member of Council of the American Mathematical Society.
- Former member of the American Mathematical Society Publications Committee.
- Former member of the National Academy of Sciences Mathematical Sciences Education Board (MSEB).
- Former member of the Committee of Science Policy of the Joint Policy Board for Mathematics.
- Mathematics correspondent (:The Math Guy") for NPR's national radio magazine program Weekend Edition.
- Occasional contributor to the NPR radio programs Talk of the Nation: Science Friday, Sounds Like Science, To The Best of Our Knowledge, and Technation in the USA, and to various BBC radio programs in the UK.
- Regular columnist for The Guardian newspaper in the UK 1983–1991.
- Writes occasional articles and reviews for newspapers and magazines such as The Guardian, Discover, Nature, New Scientist, The New York Times, The Washington Post, Math Horizons.
- Had a mathematically-inspired radio play broadcast by the BBC in 1985.
- Worked on several television programs, including the highly acclaimed one-hour special A Mathematical Mystery Tour (BBC, 1983) the six-part series Life By the Numbers (PBS, 1998), the thirteen-part series GED Connections (PBS, 2001).
- Wrote and presented the television documentary The Millennium Problems (Clay Mathematics Institute, 2001).
- Past-Editor of FOCUS, the monthly newsletter of the Mathematical Association of America.
- Past-Contributing Editor of the Notices of the American Mathematical Society.

Professional societies

American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Mathematical Society, Mathematical Association of America, Association for Computing Machinery, London Mathematical Society, Sigma Xi.