

LSA.376: Howeverbut

Language Log postings:

ML, 2/21/05: The evolution of disornamentation:

<http://itre.cis.upenn.edu/~myl/languagelog/archives/001912.html>

GP, 2/22/05: Fossilized prejudices about “However”:

<http://itre.cis.upenn.edu/~myl/languagelog/archives/001913.html>

ML, 2/24/05: Nevertheless Hardy, however:

<http://itre.cis.upenn.edu/~myl/languagelog/archives/001919.html>

AZ, 9/13/06: The tyranny of the majority, and other reasons for choosing a variant:

<http://itre.cis.upenn.edu/~myl/languagelog/archives/003576.html>

[The relevant stuff is buried in the middle.]

AZ, 11/1/06: However,...:

<http://itre.cis.upenn.edu/~myl/languagelog/archives/003723.html>

Languagehat:

<http://www-csli.stanford.edu/~zwicky/050222.languagehat.pdf>

Zwicky & Kenter on however and but:

<http://www-csli.stanford.edu/~zwicky/however.SemFest.out.pdf>

examples of initial however:

http://www-csli.stanford.edu/~zwicky/initial_however.exx.pdf

Relevance Theory references:

Blakemore, Diane. 2000. Indicators and procedures: nevertheless and but. JL 36.3.463-86.

- 2002. Relevance and linguistic meaning: The semantics and pragmatics of discourse markers. CUP.

